The late Jettett was published

The news of the death of Mr. Jettett was heard by every one with astonishment and surprise.

Mr. Jettett was a prominent citizen in municipal affairs, that it was hard to realize that he had passed from our midst forever.

Mr. Jettett had been very ill for a week Monday afternoon (10th) the writer found him in his office sitting on a sofa, with his head in his hands.

He had just returned from a funeral, and said that he thought he must have received a slight stroke, for he was giddy and had a violent pain in his head.

On Tuesday he was worse, and was obliged to leave his office and go home. His symptoms continued to grow more alarming and on Wednesday day Dr. Wilson was called in. The doctor said that he was suffering from a severe attack of cerebral congestion, which was developing into apoplexy.

On Thursday the fever mounted to the patient's head, and he became delirious, and remained so more or less to the end. Saturday afternoon (10th) he was seized with violent convulsions, after one of which he quietly and painlessly passed away, about 5:30 p.m.

The deceased gentleman belonged to an old and very respectable Irish family, the genealogy of which for over two centuries past has been published and is in possession of each member of the family. His father, Mr. Jettett, was for many years clerk of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham. The subject of this notice was born at Fort Hope on the 8th of May, 1837. He was educated at Colborne, and when a young man came to Belleville to study law with his brother, R.P. Jettett, now judge of Prince Edward county. Having completed his law studies, he went to Stirling to practice, and remained there several years. Returning back to Belleville about the year 1865, he entered partnership with his brother, and continued so until 1873, when the latter was appointed judge of Prince Edward county. On the dissolution of the partnership, Mr. Jettett carried on business for himself for five years, and in 1878 entered into partnership with J. B. Platt.
The firm of Platt & Jettett carried on a very large business for about three years, but dissolved several months ago, and continued going back into business for himself.

Mr. Jettett's municipal career has been a short but very successful one. He first entered the city council in 1878, being returned as the head of the poll for Ketcheson ward, and has been returned for the same ward each year since. In 1879 he held the honorary and responsible position of chairman of the court of revision. Last year Ald.
Jettett was chosen chairman of the finance committee, a position—the most responsible—financial position, probably, which anyone can hold—he has also filled during the present year. He has proved himself a far-seeing and well-pausing chairman of finance, and however many charges of his colleagues to office may differ from him with respect to financial questions, not one but will cheerfully admit that Ald. Jettett has always been upright and conscientious in the discharge of his duties, and that in every way he had the interest of the city as his all-prevailing motive.

The deceased gentleman was a very prominent member of St. Thomas' church, having for several years held the position of church-warden. It is in a great measure owing to his energy and good management that St.
Thomas' church is standing to-day. His loss will be greatly felt by the other officials and the congregation of that church.

Mr. Jettett was twice married. His first wife was a daughter of Mr. Chas. Wilkes, of this city. By her he had several children, but only two are living. His present wife is a daughter of Mr. Geo. E. Bull, of Stirling, by her he had three children, only one of whom survives him.

For several years past deceased has been connected with the 15th battalion in the capacity of paymaster, and was also a prominent member of the B. of O. yacht club.

It is reported that gold in very rich quality has been discovered on the farm of William Cassidy, in Camden, west of Canterville. Thirty dollars worth of prospect metal was extracted from 1,000 lbs of ore.
Experimental washings of rock in Canada are yielding rich returns.

At his new abode, Long Branch, the itching curiosity of would-be sightseers is already proving a nuisance to the president. It has been found necessary to place pickets of soldiers to prevent the sightseers at Long Branch from making a lounging place of the lawn between the beach and the house, where a good view of the lake can be had.

The individual who had the telescope established a telescope of four hundred yards from the lake, and was transacting a thriving business at ten cents a pop until he was expelled.

The result of the final heat, in the single scull race at the Toronto regatta established Wallace Rose's claim to the championship. He won the first heat easily over such opposition as were pitted against him, and again quitted the last men in the respective trials quite as easily. The leading scullers of the world were present, and hence Wallace has fairly won the distinction he lays claim to. With Conley a good second, Canada bids fair to retain supremacy at the oar for some time to come. The opinion seems to prevail at Toronto that last Sunday's heat, better to be had, would have made a better showing, and that he is in every respect a magnificent sculler.

Township Council.
Towns Held, Sept. 5.

Mr. Williams, That Mr. Lavis' application be granted.—Carried.

Mr. McQuig made application to have ditch if he thinks it would benefit the road.—Carried.

Mr. Duncan presented a petition from Miss Mason and eight others, requesting the council not to close a certain culvert in rear of Mr. Mason's property on the north concession line. Mr. John M. Lloyd presented a diagram showing the amount of damage done by closing said culvert.

ed by Mr. Duncan, That the road surveyor examine the above named road, and report at the next meeting of the council.—Carried.

Mr. Cook, That this council adjourn for one the rateable property in the township of Rawlston.

to committee on by-laws.—Carried.

bondsmen, viz: Charles Sine and William Saries.

Moved by Mr. Williams and seconded by Mr. Vandervoort, That the above names be accepted.—Carried.

The reveue read a communication from S.
McGee, road master, asking him to look after a road which he claimed Mr. Elam White was building his fence on.

Moved by Mr. Cook and seconded by Mr. Duncan, That the road surveyor be instructed to examine the road on centre of lot No. 6, in the first concession, and to notify Mr. White to build his fence forty feet from the line left by Mr. Courtney when he was road surveyor.—Carried.

Council adjourned until the first Monday in October, 1881.

The Kingston News recently said Mr. John Rothwell, son of Capt. Rothwell, of the Princess Louise has received an appointment in connection with the Marmora gold mine.

Large portions of Michigan are devastated by fire, the reports containing many heart-rending tales of suffering and destruction caused by the merciless ravages of the fire fiend. Scores of lives have been lost, thousands of head of cattle, and millions of dollars worth of property.

It is learned from an official source that twenty-one miles of the double track on the Grand Trunk have been laid between Toronto and Port Huron; that thirteen miles between Port Hope and Toronto have been graded and are now ready for the rails to be laid; between Belleville and Port Hope ten miles of the second track have been laid, and between Victoria bridge and the Bonaventure depot two miles. Two hundred and fifty men were employed on the Port Hope and Toronto branch, and a proportionate number in the other places.

Just before the rowing regatta at Toronto, Handan announced his intention of retiring, which drew forth such unfavorable comments from the press that he has changed his mind and is leaving the following "During the past week many comments on a daring nature have been made upon my withdrawal from the regatta brought to a conclusion to-day. It has been said that I might have retired with better grace by first offering to row any man in the world for a suitable stake. That I have frequently done, but in order to show that now he no mistake as to my intention, and in order that I may retire in what the public appear to think a befitting manner, I herby offer to row Wallace Rose, the winner on Monday, or any man in the world, a three or four mile race for from two to five thousand dollars a side, on a course to be mutually agreed upon, within six or seven weeks from date. This is the last offer I intend to make, and the fulfillment or non-fulfillment, if not accepted within two weeks, will end my career as a professional oarsman. I herby deposit five hundred dollars in the hands of the offering writer of the Mail, to make the offer good."

Some years later he was in a very bad way, and he was in the hands of the law.
